8. SECURITIES LOAN

8.1 From time to time and either (i) on written request by the Client to XTELLUS or (ii) if necessary to settle a Transaction in accordance with Settlement clauses herein presented in this Agreement, XTELLUS may, subject to the terms of this clause, agree to lend Securities to the Client (each such loan, a "Securities Loan").

8.2 With respect to any Securities Loan, XTELLUS shall be entitled at any time to call for the redelivery to it of all or any Equivalent Securities the subject of such Securities Loan on demand. Where XTELLUS makes such a demand on the Client, the Client shall deliver Equivalent Securities to an account designated by XTELLUS by no later than the end of the standard settlement time for such Loan Securities on the exchange or in the clearing or settlement organisation through which the Loan Securities were originally delivered.

- 8.7 Unless the Securities Loan is agreed to be a Term Loan, XTELLUS may at any time terminate the Securities Loan by giving the Client notice of not less than the standard settlement time for the Securities on the exchange or in the clearing house through which the Securities were originally delivered or are typically settled, upon which time the Client will be required to deliver Equivalent Securities to, or to the order of XTELLUS. If the Client fails to deliver Equivalent Securities when required to do so under this clause, without prejudice to any other rights under this Agreement or otherwise, XTELLUS may, at the Client's cost and expense, buy Equivalent Securities in satisfaction of the Client's obligations under this clause.

9. DELEGATION AND SUBCUSTODIAN

- 9.1 XTELLUS may delegate any of its duties under these custody terms, including (without limitation) the safekeeping of the Financial Instruments, to Sub-Custodians, nominees, agents, clearing houses and clearing systems inside or outside the Republic of Cyprus (each a "Custody Delegate").

- 9.5 XTELLUS shall be entitled to grant to a Sub-Custodian a lien, right of retention and/or other security interest over the Financial Instruments to the extent permitted by the CySEC Rules.

9.6 Where Financial Instruments are not in registered form, they will be recorded in XTELLUS's records in an account in the name of the Client and, where recorded by a Sub-Custodian, will be recorded in an account in the name of XTELLUS designated for clients' securities.

10. VOTING RIGHTS AND CORPORATE ACTIONS

10.1 XTELLUS will use reasonable endeavors to notify the Client of all matters of which XTELLUS receives notice in respect of which the Client has voting rights and of all relevant corporate actions attaching to the Financial Instruments. XTELLUS will not inform the Client of any other events affecting the relevant issuer.

10.2 XTELLUS shall not take any action in relation to the corporation's actions referred to above and will not be under any obligation to exercise any voting rights in respect of the Financial Instruments. 10.3 XTELLUS shall not be obliged to exercise any corporate action rights in respect of any Securities recorded as being held in the Securities Account over the relevant record date:

10.3.1 in relation to a number of Securities greater than the number of the aggregate of relevant Securities recorded as being held in the Securities Accounts (and for the avoidance of doubt Rehypothesized Assets are not recorded as being held in the Securities Account for these purposes);

10.3.2 if the exercise of such corporate action right is required to be made in XTELLUS's name or in the name of any Associates; or

10.3.3 to the extent that XTELLUS considers that to participate in the exercise of such corporate action rights on the Client's behalf could be contrary to its own policies, guidelines on its or its Associate's best interests, could give rise to any conflict or reputational risk or could breach any applicable laws or regulations issued by CySEC.

10.4 XTELLUS shall distribute any entitlement to shares or other benefits arising from a corporate event in respect of any particular type of Financial Instruments on a pro rata basis amongst all clients for whom XTELLUS holds that particular type of Financial Instruments on a pooled basis. If the Client's pro rata share of a distribution is less than an integral number of units, XTELLUS shall round down the number of units for distribution to the Client to an integral number and pay to the Client the balance in cash.

10.5 XTELLUS shall provide the Client with periodic reports concerning the content and value of the Custody Accounts not less than once a year or as otherwise agreed between the parties. The Client may request additional reports from XTELLUS which XTELLUS shall provide in accordance with its obligations under the CySEC DIRECTIVE DI87-01.

11. CLIENT FUNDS ACCOUNT

11.1 Subject always to clause 10.1, money that XTELLUS received from or on behalf of the Client will be treated and held as Client Funds subject to the CySEC Rules.

Client Funds will be held in an omnibus Client Funds account with Client Funds belonging to other clients of XTELLUS. XTELLUS will maintain detailed records of the Client Funds balances of the Client. Client Funds will be held subject always to the bare security interest detailed at clause 28.

- 11.4 Subject to XTELLUS's oversight and monitoring obligations in clause 8.3 XTELLUS is not responsible for any acts, omissions or default of an Approved Bank. If there is an unreconcilable shortfall in the pooled account at an Approved Bank, then the Client will share in the shortfall with other clients holding money in the account. If an Approved Bank becomes insolvent or is unable to pay its debts the Client may not be able to recover all of its Client Funds.
- 11.5 XTELLUS may, from time to time, hold Client Funds in an Approved Bank outside the Republic of Cyprus where there may be different legal and regulatory requirements and different practices from those applying in the Republic of Cyprus. Client Funds may not be separately identifiable from other money held in the account. If the overseas Approved Bank becomes insolvent XTELLUS may only have an unsecured claim against that Approved Bank on behalf of the Client and the Client will be exposed to the risk that the money recovered by XTELLUS will not cover all of the Client's claim.
- 11.6 Interest is not payable on amounts deposited as Client Funds with XTELLUS unless otherwise agreed with the client.
- 11.7 XTELLUS is entitled to stop treating money as Client Funds if there is an unclaimed balance on the Client Funds account. The conditions that must be satisfied before XTELLUS can do this are:

If the Client has not responded to such communication within 28 days of the communication having been made; and
 - 11.7.3 XTELLUS will make good any subsequent valid claim against the money.
- 11.8 Any transfer of Client Funds on a transfer of business in accordance with Clause 8.8 will be on terms permitting the Client to request repayment of the Client Funds at any time.
- 11.9 XTELLUS will prepare and send to the Client statements of Client Funds balances in accordance with CySEC Rules in DIRECTIVE DI87-01.

- 12.2 Delivery or payment with respect to Securities will be carried out at the Client's own risk and XTELLUS's obligation to account to the Client for any Security or the proceeds of sale of any Security will be conditional on receipt by XTELLUS of the relevant Securities or sale proceeds.
- 12.3 XTELLUS reserves the right, in its sole and absolute discretion, to refuse to settle any Transaction.
- 12.4 In clearing and settling Transactions on behalf of the Client, XTELLUS shall act solely as agent on behalf of the Client and not as principal.

These types of orders are sometimes described as synthetic orders. The transmission of synthetic orders to the market is dependent upon the accurate and timely receipt of prices or quotes from the relevant market or market data provider. The Client acknowledges that a market may cancel a synthetic order when upgrading its systems, trading screens may drop the record of such an order, and the Client enters into such orders at its own risk.

32. ACTION FOLLOWING AN EVENT OF DEFAULT

32.1 Liquidation Date: At any time following an Event of Default, XTELLUS may, by written notice to the Client, specify a date (the "Liquidation Date") for the termination and liquidation of Transactions.

32.2 Liquidation Amount: Upon the occurrence of a Liquidation Date:

- (a) all Transactions will terminate and, following the termination, no further payments or deliveries in respect of the Transactions or any interest, howsoever described, on those payment obligations will be required to be made;
- (b) each outstanding Cash Loan will become immediately due and payable;
- (c) with respect to each outstanding Securities Loan, Equivalent Securities to the Loan Securities shall become immediately redeliverable by you;
- (d) any Securities Equivalent to Rehypothesized Assets shall become immediately redeliverable by XTELLUS;

so that, where this clause (Liquidation Amount) applies, performance of the respective obligations of the parties with respect to relevant payments and deliveries identified about shall be effected only in accordance with clause 12.3 below and an amount equal to the Liquidation Amount will instead be payable (whether by payment, set-off or otherwise) following the termination.

32.3 The "Liquidation Amount" means the aggregate net sum of:

- (a) with respect to each Transaction terminated on the Liquidation Date, an amount (which may be positive or negative or zero) which is equal to the value of such Transaction as determined by XTELLUS in a commercially reasonable manner. For the purposes of this paragraph (a), XTELLUS may consider quotations (firm or indicative) for replacement Transactions, market data supplied by third parties and XTELLUS's own internal sources and models which it uses for valuation purposes. XTELLUS may also take into account any loss of bargain, cost of funding or, without duplication, cost, loss or, as the case may be, gain, as a result of the termination, liquidation, obtaining, performing or re-establishing of any hedge or related trading position. If the amount relating to the Transaction is owed to XTELLUS, the value determined in respect of the related Transaction under this paragraph (a) will be assigned a positive sign, and if the amount relating to the Transaction is owed to the Client, the value determined in respect of the related Transaction(s) under this paragraph will be assigned a negative sign;
- (b) with respect to each Transaction terminated on the Liquidation Date, any amount which became payable in respect of such Transaction, or which would have become payable but for a condition precedent not being satisfied in respect of any such Transaction, prior to the Liquidation Date but which remained unpaid on such Liquidation Date, together with accrued, unpaid interest. If the amount relating to the Transaction is owed to XTELLUS, the value determined in respect of the related Transaction under this paragraph (b) will be assigned a positive sign, and if the amount relating to the

Transaction is owed to the Client, the value determined in respect of the related Transaction(s) under this paragraph will be assigned a negative sign;

32.4 Any outstanding obligation of XTELLUS to return or transfer cash in the Cash Accounts and/or Securities in the Securities Accounts to the Client is extinguished to the extent that it has been accounted for in determining Liquidation Amount.

32.5 Responsibility for determination of amounts: XTELLUS will determine any Liquidation Amount as soon as reasonably practicable after a Liquidation Date. Once XTELLUS has made its determination of the Liquidation Amount, it will promptly notify the Client whether it is payable by XTELLUS or the Client. If the Liquidation Amount is positive, it will be due from the Client to XTELLUS, and if it is negative, the absolute value of the Liquidation Amount will be due from XTELLUS to the Client. The Liquidation Amount will be payable in the Base Currency and on the first Business Day after delivery of the notification of the amount payable.

33. CLOSE-OUT

33.1 On or at any time following the occurrence of an Event of Default, XTELLUS may by service of a written notice on the Client (the "Close-Out Notice"):

33.1.1 designate the Business Day on which such notice is served as the "Close-Out Date", provided that in the case of an Event of Default under paragraphs (i), (ii), (iii), (v) or (vi) of the definition of Act of Insolvency with respect to a Client that is governed by a system of law that does not permit termination to take place after the occurrence of such Event of Default, then the Close-Out Date will be deemed to have been designated as of the time immediately preceding the institution of the relevant proceeding or the presentation of the relevant petition; and 33.1.2 apply the provisions of this Clause 33.

33.2 On the Close-Out Date, the following shall occur:

33.2.1 no further payments or deliveries will be required to be made;

33.2.2 all outstanding Transactions shall be terminated and any obligation of XTELLUS to settle any outstanding Transaction will cease;

 - 33.4.1 an account shall be taken of any balances established pursuant to sub-Clauses 28.3.1 – 28.3.2 and any such sums shall be set off against each other so as to establish a single net sum owing from the Client to XTELLUS as a whole, or owing from XTELLUS to the Client (the “Close-Out Amount”); and
 - 33.4.2 the balance of the Close-Out Amount due from one party to the other shall be due and payable the next following Business Day (and provided always that any balance due from XTELLUS to the Client shall be subject to the Security Interest).
- 33.5 If following the application of Clause 28.4 , there is any balance due from the Client to XTELLUS, XTELLUS shall apply the proceeds obtained from enforcement of the Security Interest towards the full and final discharge of any of the Secured Obligations of the Client to XTELLUS, in each case at such time or times and in such manner as it may think fit.
- 33.6 If following the application of Clause 28.4 and 28.5 the effect of any agreement to which XTELLUS and the Client are a party or any Applicable Law (including any applicable judicial decision) results in Secured Obligations owed by the Client to XTELLUS being reinstated or any Secured Obligations owed by the Client to any third party being transferred to XTELLUS or otherwise being outstanding, XTELLUS may continue to apply the set-off provisions of this Clause 28.6 until such time as all Secured Obligations have been discharged. Without prejudicing the foregoing, where XTELLUS exercises its power of sale, the timing of such sale shall be in XTELLUS’s absolute discretion and XTELLUS may take into account the size, amount, liquidity and such other factors in respect of the Secured Assets as XTELLUS in its absolute discretion thinks fit and may sell Secured Assets over such period and by such method as XTELLUS in its absolute discretion thinks fit.
- 33.9 The power of sale under the Transfer and Mortgage of Immovable Property Law (No. 9/1965) shall apply and have effect on the basis that the Client Documents constitute a mortgage within the meaning of the said law and XTELLUS is a mortgagee exercising the power of sale conferred on mortgagees by the said law.
- 33.10 Following the determination of the Close-Out Amount, XTELLUS shall apply towards the full and final discharge of the Secured Obligations:
 - 33.10.1 the proceeds of sale of the Secured Assets; and 33.10.2 to the extent that any liquidation of the Secured Assets pursuant to this Clause 28 results in cash proceeds in excess of the Secured Obligations, XTELLUS shall hold such cash proceeds on trust for the Client.

33.11 XTELLUS may appoint a receiver of all or part of the Secured Assets over which the Security Interest has become enforceable and may remove any receiver so appointed and appoint another in his place. Such receiver shall be vested by XTELLUS with such powers and discretions that XTELLUS has under this Agreement. XTELLUS shall have no liability for the acts or omissions of any receiver so appointed, including any negligence, fraud or willful default. - 34.2 For this purpose, any amount may be converted by XTELLUS into the currency in which the other is denominated at the rate of exchange at which XTELLUS would be able, in good faith and using commercially reasonable procedures, to purchase the relevant amount of such currency.
- 34.3 If an obligation is unascertained, XTELLUS may, in good faith, estimate that obligation and set off in respect of the estimate, subject to the relevant party accounting to the other when the obligation is ascertained.

- 2.5 The Client understands and agrees that the Securities Accounts opened by XTELLUS will be Custody Accounts, and each such account shall have such title or other designation as agreed by XTELLUS and the Client. Such title or designation shall indicate that the assets recorded in such account do not belong to XTELLUS and are the property of the Client (the "Securities Accounts"). XTELLUS shall record in a Securities Account any Securities (including evidence of, or title to, Securities and all rights in respect of Securities) deposited or transferred by the Client or on the Client's behalf with or to XTELLUS or a Third Party or collected by XTELLUS or a Third Party for credit to that Securities Account and which XTELLUS agrees to hold on the Client's behalf ("Custody Assets"). XTELLUS is not liable for the acts, omissions or insolvency of any Third Party, except that XTELLUS accepts responsibility to the Client for any nominee company controlled by XTELLUS, or controlled by any of XTELLUS's Affiliates, to the extent required by the Directive. In the event of the insolvency or any other analogous proceedings of a Third Party holding Custody Asset belong to the Client, XTELLUS may only have an unsecured claim against the Third Party on the Client's behalf, and the Client will be exposed to the risk that the securities, cash or any other property received by XTELLUS from the Third Party is insufficient to satisfy the Client's claim and the claims of all other relevant clients.

4.2 Custody Assets held by Third Parties: The Client's Custody Assets may be held overseas by a Third Party on XTELLUS's behalf. Furthermore:

- (a) the Client's Custody Assets may be held in an omnibus account by the Third Party, and there is a risk that the Client's Custody Assets could be withdrawn or used to meet obligations of other persons, or that the balance of assets held by the third party does not reconcile with the quantity which the third party is required to hold, and the Client may not in such circumstances receive its full entitlement of Custody Assets;
- (b) in some jurisdictions it may not be possible to identify separately the Custody Assets which a Third Party holds for clients from those which it holds for itself or for XTELLUS, and there is a risk that the Client's Custody Assets could be withdrawn or used to meet the obligations of the third party, or lost altogether if the third party becomes insolvent; but where possible, XTELLUS will obtain an undertaking from the Third Party to segregate the Custody Assets from XTELLUS's assets and XTELLUS will provide details of any such arrangements to the Client; and
- (c) an account containing the Client's Custody Assets may be subject to the laws of a jurisdiction other than the Republic of Cyprus. In such case, the Client's rights in relation to those Custody Assets may be different from the Client's rights to Custody Assets held in an account subject to the laws of the Republic of Cyprus.

- 4.3 Liens and set-off rights: Where Custody Assets are deposited into an account with a third party, such Third Party may have a security interest or lien over, or right of set-off in relation to such securities, to the extent XTELLUS is permitted to grant such rights by the CySEC Rules. Where the Client's Custody Assets are held by a Third Party, and such Third Party or other person has a security interest, lien, right of set-off, or similar rights over the Client's Custody Assets, the Client is exposed to the risk that such Third Party or other person may exercise such rights over the Client's Custody Assets and reduce the amount of the Client's Custody Assets even where the Client has not breached any of its obligations under this Agreement.
- 4.4 Third Parties outside the EU: XTELLUS may use a Third Party outside the EU where the holding and safekeeping of financial instruments is not regulated. XTELLUS will only do so when the nature of the Custody Assets or of the other services provided to the Client connected with those Custody Assets requires them to be deposited with such a Third Party or where the Client has requested XTELLUS in writing to deposit Custody Assets with a Third Party outside the EU.
- 4.5 Use of Custody Assets by settlement systems: Where any of the Client's Custody Assets are held by XTELLUS or a Third Party in a settlement system, and the mandatory terms of the settlement system require that the settlement system is permitted to use assets held in the settlement system for any purpose, the Client hereby consents to such use of the Client's Custody Assets.
- 4.6 Suspension or discontinuance of a Third Party service: If a Third Party to which XTELLUS has delegated any of its duties ceases to provide, or is prevented from providing, either temporarily or permanently, its services to XTELLUS, or gives advance notice to XTELLUS of the occurrence of either event, then XTELLUS may, without prior notice to the Client, (a) suspend or terminate the custody Service, or the relevant part thereof, delegated to the Third Party and/or (b) take any action which it, in its reasonable discretion, considers appropriate, including to mitigate any Loss incurred or other impact to XTELLUS and/or the Client or potential Loss or other impact which may be incurred as a result of the action or event. Any action taken by XTELLUS in accordance with this Clause 4.6 is binding on the Client. XTELLUS and any Associate, and any of their directors, officers, employees or agents, will not be liable for any action that XTELLUS or any Associate takes, or does not take, in accordance with this Clause 4.6.
- 4.7 For the avoidance of doubt, neither XTELLUS nor any Affiliate shall have any liability to the Client with respect to any third party which may be appointed by XTELLUS or an Affiliate to act as a sub-custodian or nominee in respect of all or a part of the Custody Assets.

Further, XTELLUS is not responsible or liable for any action taken to comply with sanctions or government requirements. Upon the occurrence of any Force Majeure Event, to the extent allowed by Applicable Regulations, XTELLUS shall inform the Client and shall use its reasonable efforts to minimise the effect of the force majeure event on the Client;
- (c) XTELLUS may refrain without liability from doing anything that would or might in its opinion be contrary to any law of any state or jurisdiction (including but not limited to the United Kingdom, the European Union, the United States of America or, in each case, any jurisdiction forming a part of it and England & Wales) or any directive or regulation of any agency of any such state or jurisdiction and may without liability do anything which is, in its opinion, necessary to comply with any such law, directive or regulation;

If any Instructions are incomplete, unclear, ambiguous and/or in conflict with others, XTELLUS may, in its absolute discretion and without any liability on its part, act upon what XTELLUS believes them in good faith to be or refuse to act on them until any incompleteness, lack of clarity, ambiguity or conflict has been resolved to its satisfaction. Any Instruction shall be conclusively deemed to be a valid Instruction from the Client to XTELLUS if XTELLUS believes it to be genuine. The Client is responsible for any loss, claim or expense incurred by XTELLUS for following or attempting to follow any Instructions.

6.3 Actions not requiring Instructions: The Client agrees that XTELLUS may, without any further Instructions from the Client, carry out the following actions relating to the Custody Assets:

- (a) collect and receive, for the Client's account, any payments (whether income or capital) and distributions in respect of the Custody Assets, and take any action necessary and proper in connection with them, including (without limitation) the presentation of coupons and other interest items, drafts and other negotiable instruments and the deduction or withholding of any sum on account of any tax: (i) required (or which, in XTELLUS's view, is required) to be so deducted or withheld; or (ii) for which XTELLUS is, in relation to the Client's account, liable or accountable by law or practice of any relevant revenue authority of any jurisdiction;
- (b) execute in the Client's name such ownership and other certificates as may be required to obtain payment in respect of the Custody Assets; and 7.2 Corporate actions: Provided XTELLUS receives the relevant information, XTELLUS will use reasonable endeavors to notify the Client of all matters in respect of which the Client has voting rights and of all calls for redemption, grants or expirations of conversion rights, takeovers, grants or expirations of subscription rights, mergers, offers, consolidations, reorganisations and capitalisations or such other corporate actions or any other administrative or supervisory matters affecting the Custody Assets. Unless otherwise agreed with the Client in writing, XTELLUS will not take any action in relation to such matters except in accordance with Instructions provided in writing or by electronic means.

- (a) transfer to XTELLUS on a full title transfer basis and free from any liens, charges or encumbrances and any interests of yours; and
- (b) no longer be held by XTELLUS in accordance with the CySEC Rules.

9.3 Immediately on XTELLUS exercising its right to Rehypothesize, the Client shall have a right to the redelivery of Equivalent Securities to the Rehypothesized Assets. For the purpose of satisfying its redelivery obligation XTELLUS may credit Equivalent Securities to the Securities Accounts. Such Equivalent Securities, upon being credited to the relevant Securities Accounts, will become subject to all provisions of this Agreement.

9.4 For the avoidance of doubt, any Securities Rehypothesized by XTELLUS continue to be taken into account for the purposes of determining the Margin Balance.

9.5 XTELLUS shall use reasonable efforts to ensure that on any Business Day the aggregate Market Value of all Rehypothesized Assets does not exceed the Rehypothesisation Limit.

- 9.6 If at any time the aggregate value of Rehypothesized Assets exceeds the Rehypothesisation Limit (as determined by XTELLUS in a commercially reasonable manner and without applying any haircut), XTELLUS will use reasonable endeavors to return Securities Equivalent to the Rehypothesized Assets (as XTELLUS in its sole discretion selects) (the "Redeliverable Assets") to the Securities Accounts such that immediately following such delivery, the aggregate value of Rehypothesized Assets is less than or equal to the Rehypothesisation Limit (as determined by XTELLUS in a commercially reasonable manner and without applying any haircut).
- 9.7 On receipt of notice from the Client that the Client proposes to enter into a Transaction in respect of any Rehypothesized Assets, XTELLUS shall use all reasonable endeavors to return Securities Equivalent to the relevant Rehypothesized Assets to the Securities Accounts in sufficient time to allow the Client to enter the Transaction.

- 9.9 Where, following any Rehypothesisation but prior to the delivery of any Equivalent Securities to the Client, any rights relating to conversion, sub-division, consolidation, pre-emption, rights arising under a takeover offer, rights to receive Securities or a certificate which may at a future date be exchanged for Securities or other rights, including those requiring election by the holder for the time being of such Securities, become exercisable prior to the redelivery or repurchase of Equivalent Securities, to the Rehypothesized Assets, then the Client may, within a reasonable time before the latest time for the exercise of the right or option, give written notice to XTELLUS that on redelivery of Equivalent Securities to the Rehypothesized Assets that it wishes to receive Equivalent Securities in such form as will arise if the right is exercised or, in the case of a right which may be exercised in more than one manner, is exercised as is specified in such written notice. XTELLUS shall use reasonable endeavors to exercise such rights in accordance with the Client's instructions, provided that XTELLUS receive such instructions in a timely manner, as determined by Firm acting reasonably.

- 10.1.1 where XTELLUS transfers money held for the Client out of the relevant Client Money account to a third party on the Client's instructions (other than where the transfer is to another Client Money account of XTELLUS) or pursuant to a title transfer collateral arrangement, this will involve a transfer of full ownership of the money to that third party, in which case the Client will no longer have a proprietary claim to that money and the transferee may deal with it in its own right; and
- 10.1.2 where XTELLUS is required to transfer Client Money to a third party on a title transfer basis, at the time of the transfer by XTELLUS to the third party, the Client shall be deemed to have transferred full ownership of the money to XTELLUS immediately before the transfer by XTELLUS to the third party.

The legal and regulatory regime applying to any such bank or person will be different from that of the European Union and, in the event of the insolvency or any other analogous proceedings in relation to that bank or person, the Client's money may be treated differently from the treatment which would apply if the money was held with a bank or other person in an appropriate account in the European Union.

11.2 A Resolution Amount which is comprised solely or partially of cash may comprise cash in such currency as XTELLUS in its sole discretion determines, and such money shall be treated as Client Money in accordance with the Directive or Regulations once credited to the Client Money account.

11.3 If at any time and from time to time on any Business Day following a Resolution Amount being credited to the Client Money account or Securities Accounts (as applicable) the associated Shortfall Amount decreases or is reduced to zero (other than where such decrease or reduction occurs solely as a result of the Resolution Amount being credited to the Client Money account or Securities Account), the Resolution Excess Amount shall become immediately due and payable by the Client to XTELLUS.

11.4 The Client understands and agrees that for the purposes of satisfying its obligation to pay XTELLUS any Resolution Excess Amount, XTELLUS will be entitled, and the Client authorises XTELLUS, from time to time (and without notice to the Client) to debit such amount from the Client Money account and/or the securities from the Securities Account. ELECTRONIC TRADING DISCLOSURE STATEMENT

Electronic Trading and Order Routing Systems FIA Disclosure Statement

Electronic trading and order routing systems differ from traditional open outcry pit trading and manual order routing methods. Transactions using an electronic system are subject to the rules and regulations of the exchange(s) offering the system and/or listing the contract. Before you engage in transactions using an electronic system, you should carefully review the rules and regulations of the exchange(s) offering the system and/or listing contracts you intend to trade.

1. Differences among Electronic Trading Systems: Trading or routing orders through electronic systems varies widely among the different electronic systems. You should consult the rules and regulations of the exchange offering the electronic system and/or listing the contract traded or order routed to understand, among other things, in the case of trading systems, the system's order matching procedure, opening and closing procedures and prices, error trade policies, and trading limitations or requirements; and in the case of all systems, qualifications for access and grounds for termination and limitations on the types of orders that may be entered into the system. Each of these matters may present different risk factors with respect to trading on or using a particular system. Each system may also present risks related to system access, varying response times, and security. In the case of internet-based systems, there may be additional types of risks related to system access, varying response times and security, as well as risks related to service providers and the receipt and monitoring of electronic mail.

2. Risks Associated with System Failure: Trading through an electronic trading or order routing system exposes you to risks associated with system or component failure. In the event of system or component failure, it is possible that, for a certain time period, you may not be able to enter new orders, execute existing orders, or modify or cancel orders that were previously entered. System or component failure may also result in loss of orders or order priority.

3. Simultaneous open outcry pit and Electronic Trading: Some contracts offered on an electronic trading system may be traded electronically and through open outcry during the same trading hours. You should review the rules and regulations of the exchange offering the system and/or listing the contract to determine how orders that do not designate a particular process will be executed.

Limitation of Liability: Exchanges offering an electronic trading or order routing system and/or listing the contract may have adopted rules to limit their liability, the liability of FCMs, and software and communication system vendors and the amount of damages you may collect for system failure and delays. These limitations of liability provisions vary among the exchanges. You should consult the rules and regulations of the relevant exchange(s) in order to understand these liability limitations.

FUTURES AND OPTIONS PRODUCT INFORMATION

1 Understanding the Risk of Derivative Products

1.1 You should not deal in derivative products unless you understand the nature of the contract you are entering into and the extent of your exposure to risk. You should also be satisfied that the contract is suitable for you in the light of your circumstances and financial position.

1.2 Although futures and options can be utilized for the management of investment risk, some of these products are unsuitable for many investors. Derivative products will not always act in the same way. Relationships with the broker may differ depending on the product and style of the transaction, and clearing houses may not always owe you a direct commitment. Different products involve different levels of exposure to risk and in deciding whether to trade such products you should be aware of the following points.

1.3 You should be aware that the product information and advice contained in this Clause is not necessarily a comprehensive description of all aspects of the product. [Additionally, specific products may be tailored for a particular client or market and may differ in detail from the outline set forth in this Clause. The terms of the particular transactions will prevail over the product description and information given in this disclosure].

2 Futures

2.1 Transactions in futures involve the obligation to make, or to take, delivery of the underlying asset of the contract at a future date, or in some cases to settle the position with cash.

2.2 The risk of loss in trading commodity futures contracts can be substantial. You should, therefore, carefully consider whether such trading is suitable for you in light of your circumstances and financial resources. Placing contingent orders, such as “stop-loss” or “stop-limit” orders, will not necessarily limit your losses to the intended amounts, since market conditions on the exchange where the order is placed may make it impossible to execute such orders.

2.3 Under certain market conditions, you may find it difficult or impossible to liquidate a position. This can occur, for example, when the market reaches a daily price fluctuation limit (“limit move”).

2.4 The ‘gearing’ or ‘leverage’ often obtainable in futures trading means that a small deposit or down payment can lead to large losses as well as gains. It also means that a relatively small movement in the value of your investment, and this can work against you as well as for you.

2.5 Futures transactions have a contingent liability, and you should be aware of the implications of this, in particular the margining requirements. You may sustain a total loss of the funds that you deposit with your broker to establish or maintain a position in the commodity futures market, and you may incur losses beyond these amounts. If the market moves against your position, you may be called upon by your broker to deposit a substantial amount of additional margin funds, on short notice, in order to maintain your position. If you do not provide the required funds within the time required by your broker, your position may be liquidated at a loss, and you will be liable for any resulting deficit in your account.

2.6 You should consult your broker concerning the nature of the protections available to safeguard funds of property deposited for your account.

3 Options

3.1 There are many different types of options with different characteristics subject to the following conditions.

(a) Buying options: Buying options involves less risk than selling options because, if the price of the underlying asset moves against you, you can simply allow the option to lapse. The maximum loss is limited to the premium, plus any commission or other transaction charges. However, if you buy a call option on a futures contract and you later exercise the option, you will acquire the future. This will expose you to the risks described under ‘futures’ and ‘contingent liability investment transactions’.

(b) Writing options: If you write an option, the risk involved is considerably greater than buying options. You may be liable for margin to maintain your position and a loss may be sustained well in excess of the premium received. By writing an option, you accept a legal obligation to purchase or sell the underlying asset if the option is exercised against you, however far the market price has moved away from the exercise price. If you already own the underlying asset which you have contracted to sell (when the options will be known as ‘covered call options’) the risk is reduced. If you do not own the underlying asset (‘uncovered call options’) the risk can be unlimited. Only experienced persons should contemplate writing uncovered options, and then only after securing full details of the applicable conditions and potential risk exposure.

(c) Traditional options: Certain London Stock Exchange (“LSE”) member firms under special LSE rules write a particular type of option called a ‘traditional option’. These may involve greater risk than other options. Two-way prices are not usually quoted and there is no access to a market via a Market on which to close out an open position or to effect an equal and opposite transaction to reverse an open position. It may be difficult to assess its value or for the seller of such an option to manage his exposure to risk.

3.2 Certain options Markets operate on a margined basis, under which buyers do not pay the full premium on their option at the time they purchase it. In this situation you may subsequently be called upon to pay margin on the option up to the level of your premium. If you fail to do so as required, your position may be closed or liquidated in the same way as a futures position.

4 Contracts for differences

4.1 Futures and options contracts can also be referred to as a contract for differences. These can be options and futures on the FTSE 100 index or any other index, as well as currency and interest rate swaps. However, unlike other futures and options, these contracts can only be settled in cash. Investing in a contract for differences carries the same risks as investing in a future or an option. Transactions in contracts for differences may also have a contingent liability and you should be aware of the implications of this.

5 Foreign markets

5.1 Foreign markets will involve different risks. In some cases the risks will be greater. On request, your firm must provide an explanation of the relevant risks and protections (if any) which will operate in any foreign markets, including the extent to which it will accept liability for any default of foreign firm through whom it deals. The potential for profit or loss from transactions on foreign markets or in foreign denominated contracts will be affected by fluctuations in foreign exchange rates. Such transactions may also be affected by exchange controls that could prevent or delay performance.

6 Contingent liability transactions

6.1 Contingent liability transactions, which are margined, require you to make a series of payments against the purchase price, instead of paying the whole purchase price immediately.

6.2 If you trade in futures, contracts for differences or sell options you may sustain a total loss of the margin you deposit with your firm to establish or maintain a position. If the market moves against you, you may be called upon to pay substantial additional margin at short notice to maintain the position. If you fail to do so within the time required, your position may be liquidated at a loss and you will be responsible for the resulting deficit.

6.3 Even if a transaction is not marginalized, it may still carry an obligation to make further payments in certain circumstances over and above any amount paid when you entered the contract.

7 Limited liability transactions

7.1 Before entering into a limited liability transaction, you should obtain from your firm, or the firm with whom you are dealing, a formal written statement confirming that the extent of your loss liability on each transaction will be limited to an amount agreed by you before you enter into the transaction.

7.2 The amount you can lose in limited liability transactions will be less than in other margined transactions, which have no predetermined loss limit. Nevertheless, even though the extent of loss will be subject to the agreed limit, you may sustain the loss in a relatively short time. Your loss may be limited, but the risk of sustaining a total loss to the amount agreed is substantial.

8 Suspensions of trading

8.1 Under certain trading conditions it may be difficult or impossible to liquidate a position. This may occur, for example, at times of rapid price movement if the price rises or falls in one trading session to such an extent that under the rules of the relevant Market trading is suspended or restricted or if the systems of the relevant Market cannot function for any reason. Placing a stop-loss order will not necessarily limit your losses to the intended amounts, because market conditions may make it impossible to execute such an order at the stipulated price.

9 Clearing house protections

9.1 On many Markets, the performance of a transaction by your firm (or third party with whom he is dealing on your behalf) is 'guaranteed' by the Market or clearing house. However, this guarantee is unlikely in most circumstances to cover you, the client, and may not protect you if your firm or another party defaults on its obligations to you. Not all Markets act in the same way. Further specific information about trading on the London Metal Exchange ("LME") can be found at www.lme.co.uk. Further specific information about trading derivative products on Euronext can be found at http://www.euronext.com/home_derivatives-2153-EN.html.

10 Insolvency

10.1 Your firm's insolvency or default, or that of any other brokers involved with your transaction, may lead to positions being liquidated or closed out without your consent. In certain circumstances, you may not get back the actual assets which you lodged as collateral, and you may have to accept any available payments in cash. On request, your firm must provide an explanation of the extent to which it will accept liability for any insolvency of, or default by, other firms involved with your transactions.

11 Warrants

11.1 A warrant is a time-limited right to subscribe for shares, debentures, loan stock or government securities and is exercisable against the original issuer of the underlying securities. Warrants often involve a high degree of gearing, so that a relatively small movement in the price of the underlying security results in a disproportionately large movement, unfavorable or favorable, in the price of the warrant. The prices of warrants can therefore be volatile.

11.2 It is essential for anyone who is considering purchasing warrants to understand that the right to subscribe which a warrant confers is invariably limited in time with the consequence that if the investor fails to exercise this right within the pre-determined timescale, then the investment becomes worthless.

11.3 You should not buy a warrant unless you are prepared to sustain a total loss of the money you have invested plus any commission or other transaction charges.

11.4 Transactions in off-Market warrants may involve greater risk than dealing in Market traded warrants because there is no access to a market through which to liquidate your position, or to assess the value of the warrant or the exposure to risk. Bid and offer prices need not be quoted, and even where they are, they will be established by dealers in these instruments and consequently it may be difficult to establish what is a fair price.

12 General Information

12.1 Exchange-traded futures and options are not subject to a prospectus.

12.2 Exchange-traded futures and options may give rise to liabilities for the investor, calculated in accordance with Market or clearing house rules.

12.3 Your firm may not deal directly in the relevant Market but may act through one or more brokers or intermediaries. In such cases, your position may be affected by the performance of those third parties in addition to the performance of your firm. [In addition, settlement of such transactions may not be affected via the Market itself but may be affected on the books of your firm or of a broker or intermediary if such transactions can be crossed with equal but opposite orders of another participant transacting through the same firm, broker or intermediary. Your rights in such circumstances differ from those you would enjoy if your transaction was affected in the Market.

12.4 The price and liquidity of any investment depends upon the availability and value of the underlying asset, which can be affected by several extrinsic factors including, but not limited to, political, environmental and technical. Such factors can also affect the ability to settle or perform on time or at all.

12.5 Any payments made or received in relation to any investment may be subject to tax and you should seek professional advice in this respect.

12.6 Where you are unable to transfer a particular instrument which you hold, to exit your commitment under that instrument, you may have to offset your position by either buying back a short position or selling a long position. Such an offsetting transaction may have to be over the counter and the terms of such a contract may not match entirely those of the initial instrument. For example, the price of such a contract may be more or less than you received or paid for the sale or purchase of the initial instrument.
